Topic:

Provincial and Territorial Real Gross Domestic Product by Industry
2016 (preliminary)
Released by Statistics Canada – May 01, 2017

Background:

In Nunavut, GDP increased 3.9% in 2016 following a 1.2% gain in 2015. Iron ore mining rose significantly as the Mary River iron ore mine ramped up production. However, both gold and silver mining and support activities for mining declined notably. Engineering construction rose 30%, as work on a new gold mine and a number of electric power stations, more than offset a decline in transportation engineering construction.

Non-residential construction fell as the finishing touches were put on the Iqaluit Aquatic Centre, and both the Iqaluit airport improvement project and the Canadian High Artic Research Station passed peak construction. Residential construction declined 15%. Services output rose 2.5%, mostly from gains in wholesale and retail trade, as well as territorial public administration.
